

Noyes Museum of Art of Stockton University Accessibility Statement

The Noyes Museum of Art of Stockton University is fully committed to providing equal access for its patrons, employees, students/faculty/staff, and the public. Upon request, The Noyes Museum of Art of Stockton University will make the necessary accommodations to allow individuals with special needs to participate in The Noyes Museum of Art of Stockton University services, programs, and activities to the fullest extent possible. The Noyes Museum of Art of Stockton University has a designated coordinator to facilitate compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA), as required by Section 35.107 of the U.S. Department of Justice regulations, and to coordinate compliance with Sections 504 and 508 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973. The coordinator is a liaison between the University and the Museum. While the above laws mandate equal access to people with disabilities, The Noyes Museum of Art of Stockton University prioritizes establishing a workplace and environment that embraces the spirit of the law, ensuring an optimal experience for all. Information and other accessible materials will be made available on our website promptly, and upon request, information will be made physically available in alternative formats. The Noyes Museum of Art of Stockton University and the University regularly review its policies and procedures to adapt, accommodate, and address any issues that might arise regarding ADA compliance and will periodically assess its progress.
